

Dictators Talk About Help in War

Pétain Is Reported on His Way to Meet Leader of Spanish; Propagandists Busy Hitler Rushes Men Germany Has 400,000 Troops in Rumania, Observers Say

(By The Associated Press)
Premier Mussolini and Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco were reported to have met "somewhere in Italy" today amid speculation the conference would consider Spain's possible entry into the war.
At the same time, French Chief of State Philippe Pétain arrived with a large entourage at Cannes, apparently en route to meet Franco tomorrow.
In the nerve-jangled Balkans, warlike preparations moved steadily ahead.
Military observers in Belgrade, capital of Yugoslavia, reported that Hitler has sent 25 new divisions—about 400,000 troops—in to Rumania in recent weeks to reinforce his Balkan command.
An average of 49 trains a day, it was said, have been passing Hungary, carrying German munitions, tanks, guns and men. A Nazi force was reported massed on the banks of the Danube, facing Bulgaria.
Pro-Axis newspapers in the Balkans declared Bulgaria "fears England is about to violate her neutrality"—thus revealing the well-tried Nazi strategy before Hitler's blitzkrieg legions struck into the lowlands on the western front last May.

Urges United Front
The Turkish official press urged a United Balkan front against a German thrust across Bulgaria.
Dispatches from Ruse, Bulgarian port on the Danube, said German troops on the north bank of the river were speeding the construction of pontoon bridges and massing supplies near possible jump-off points leading into Bulgaria.

Diplomatic observers in Bern, Switzerland, often a source of advance news on secret moves by the Axis, expressed two beliefs on the subject of the Franco-Mussolini talks:
That Il Duce was pressing for Spain's aid in the western Mediterranean to help wrest the offensive from Britain.
That Franco, as head of a large Catholic state, was joining his efforts with those of Pope Pius XII to bring an end to the war.

Nazi quarters in Berlin said they knew nothing of such a meeting, but an authorized German spokesman ridiculed any suggestion that a British-Italian peace move was in the air.
Spanish sources in Vichy, France, said they expected a Spanish-Axis accord to result from the meeting—possibly with Spain providing Italy with bases in Spanish Morocco and on the Spanish mainland to combat Britain's mastery of the Mediterranean.

Pacing these veiled maneuvers, Britain's Royal Air Force bombed the German dive-bomber base at Catania, Sicily, and smashed at targets in northwest Germany, Holland, Norway and Denmark in overnight raids.
R. A. F. pilots told of setting fierce new fires in a second successive attack on Hannover, oil center, and reported raids on the big North German seaport of Bremen; Rotterdam, the Netherlands; shipping at Kristiansund, Norway, and Thisted, Jutland (Denmark).

The Germans said R. A. F. bombs killed and wounded some civilians in northern and western Germany, but asserted that anti-aircraft fire compelled the British to jettison their bombs and flee.
Hitler's high command reported the sinking of 28,500 tons of British shipping by U-boat and plane attacks.
In the battle of Africa, British troops were reported to have encircled the Italian garrison at Giarabub, strategic Libyan desert outpost 180 miles south of Tobruk, and other forces of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's army of the Nile were said to be mopping up scattered Italian bands in the wastelands south of captured Bengasi.

Mussolini's high command acknowledged that British motorized troops knifing into Italian Somaliland had occupied Adamaou, 100 miles east of the Kenya Colony frontier and only 70 miles from the Indian Ocean.

The Fascist high command also reported R. A. F. warplanes bombed the airbase at Addis Ababa, the former Emperor Haile Selassie's Ethiopian capital, killing nine persons.

"Fierce fighting took place all day yesterday in the Cheran sector with the intervention of air forces on both sides," the Italian war bulletin said.

In Greece, ancient Athens had its first night air raid alarm when Italian bombers struck last night at nearby Piraeus, port of the capital. Some casualties were reported. Athens itself was not bombed.

Five Die When Explosions and Fire Hit Homes

Firemen search the wreckage of homes in a row-house street of Philadelphia's densely populated south side after three gas explosions, followed by fire, took at least five lives. A patrolman, who attempted to rescue occupants of one home after the first explosion, was crushed to death by a falling wall, and a fireman was fatally injured.

Wallkill Farmers To Vote Next Week On Federal Orders

Cooperatives Will Ballot Collectively for 35,504 Producers, Agent Reports Today

New York, Feb. 12 (P)—Forty-five dairy co-operatives notified Referendum Agent N. J. Cladakis today they will cast collective ballots for 35,504 producers next Monday on proposed amendments to the New York federal-state milk marketing orders.
Cladakis said 4,505 members of 31 other cooperatives will vote individually, while 20,635 unorganized dairy farmers are eligible to vote at 434 polling places in New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and New Jersey.

Federal and state agricultural laws permit qualified cooperatives to vote collectively for their members.
Cooperatives voting collectively, (all in New York state unless otherwise specified) include:
Dairymen League Co-Op, Inc., 11 W. 42nd street, New York city.
Goshen Dairy Coop., Inc., Goshen; Gouverneur Coop. Dairymen, Gouverneur.
Cooperatives whose members will vote individually include:
Circleville Milk Producers Co-Op, Inc., Wallkill.
Other co-operatives voting individually (qualified by state only) include: Delaware Co. Farmers Coop., Inc., Delhi; Farmers Coop. Milk Co., Inc., Poughkeepsie.

Labor Gain Is Shown

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (P)—Employees in 2,241 New York factories last month totaled 475,165, a gain of 14 per cent over January, 1939. The state labor department reported a weekly January payroll of $14,456,134 represented an advance of 24 per cent over the same month last year.

Last Remnants of A. E. F. Are Being Returned With Families From France

Paris (Via Berlin), Feb. 12 (P)—The last remnants of the A.E.F. of World War days—the approximately 2,000,000 soldiers the United States sent overseas in 1917 and 1918—are disappearing rapidly from France.
At a rate of about 100 persons a week, the American Red Cross is moving stranded Americans and their families out of France—many of them former soldiers who chose to remain here when the expeditionary force sailed home. United States embassy officials estimate that only 400 Americans remain in the German-occupied portion of France.
Following the World War, many American soldiers who chose to remain built homes and found jobs or went into business. But now they are being hurried home, some because the current war has destroyed their means of earning a living, and others because they fear that, unless they leave before late spring, they might find themselves in concentration camps.
About eight out of every ten among those left in Paris declare themselves more than half convinced that the United States entered the war in April or May, and they believe it a good idea to get away before spring.
Many leaving are almost destitute. Few of them ever became rich in France and most barely managed to stretch average incomes sufficiently to bring up their children in French schools. When French resistance to German armies collapsed last June, the majority were without funds to finance a journey to the United States or to start life anew in their homeland.
The Red Cross is paying for their transportation as well as that of their French wives and children, some of whom speak no English. Among the old soldiers themselves are some who have half-forgotten their native tongue.

Sees No Danger Says Japan No Threat

Washington, Feb. 12 (P)—President Roosevelt sees no danger of an American-Japanese war, he told his Tuesday press conference with an assertion that even if such a war did come to pass it would not reduce American aid to Britain.

4,000 Per Month Allowed Into U. S.

More Than 32,000 Visas Have Been Issued Since July 1

Washington, Feb. 12 (P)—Fleeing from Nazi-conquered central Europe in fear of persecution because of their religious or political beliefs, more than 4,000 refugees a month—mostly Jews—are now pouring into the United States with the hope of finding freedom as American citizens.
State department records today showed that since last July 1 more than 32,000 immigrants visas had been issued to such refugees and they have been arriving in this country in a steady, never-diminishing stream.
Among those granted visas were many who had found temporary refuge elsewhere after hurried flights from their homelands, including 14,000 in Portugal, 3,000 in Cuba, and 2,000 in Shanghai (China).
An estimated 600,000 applications for visas are now on file in American consulates throughout Europe, officials said. There have been 300,000 requests—mostly from Jews—in Germany or German-occupied countries, and another 200,000 in unoccupied France, with Jewish applicants advancing for a large percentage of the total.

Divine Says Knife Plant to Undergo Several Changes

'Ulster Knife Co.' Takes Over Ellenville Factory, Famous Since 1871; Will Expand

An announcement made today by C. Dwight Divine, president of Dwight Divine & Sons, Inc., old established pocket cutlery manufacturers of Ellenville, is of widespread interest, especially to cutlery dealers throughout the United States.
Mr. Divine announces an entirely new manufacturing business set-up that envisages modernization of the present plant and largely increased volume of output.
The pocket knife business which dates back to 1871 at the present site and which for all but a few of the first years has since been conducted by members of the Divine family, has been taken over by a new firm, "Ulster Knife Co." the name familiar as a trade mark on Ellenville knives since the earliest days.

Albert M. Baer of New York city, who has been connected with the cutlery business for some 18 years past, is president of the new company. A. Harry Aaron, former vice president of the Dictograph Products Co., New York, is vice president and Herbert O. Hess of Moscow, Pa., who has had long experience in manufacturing lines, will be the factory superintendent. Messrs. Aaron and Hess will take up their residence in Ellenville.
C. Dwight Divine and John H. Divine will be connected with the new Ulster Knife Co. as members of the board of directors, with C. Dwight Divine as chairman of the board.

The new firm acquires the entire manufacturing plant of Dwight Divine & Sons, Inc., the latter firm having no further connection with the knife manufacturing business, although continuing to hold considerable real estate interests outside of the plant proper.

Expansion Is Planned

The "Ulster Knife Co." plans some immediate expansion of the present plant and its complete modernization, with new machinery, tooling and new equipment generally. The changes are planned to take care of largely increased volume of business which is looked for.
Fewer knife patterns will be handled and the tendency will be to standardize the lines, but the same high quality of goods will be manufactured as has characterized "Ulster Knives" during all the years that have passed. The idea will be to make "good goods cheaper." The new firm will handle primarily pocket cutlery, as heretofore.
A show room for display of the wares of the "Ulster Knife Co." probably will be opened in New York city.
Mr. Divine said that as a result of the new set-up employment will be increased somewhat, but the new methods to be utilized will of themselves permit of largely increased production. The factory will operate on a five-day week basis.
With some of the largest manufacturers of knives out of the cutlery business because of the de-

Knox Says Navy Can't Spare Any Destroyers for Britain; Opposes Depleting U. S. Navy Further

Spenders Outnumber Economy Bloc at State Budget Hearing

Taxpayer Group Gives Threat of 'Grave Resistance' to Plan of Governor

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (P)—Taxpayer demands for cuts of "several millions" opened a public hearing on Governor Lehman's $385,000,000 new state budget today and brought heated accusations of "glaring ignorance" from outnumbering advocates of increased spending.

Crowds estimated at "about 5,000" by state troopers patrolling the Capitol, milled through corridors unable to obtain seats in the Assembly hearing chamber as an economy bloc's opening appeal threatened "grave resistance" unless appropriations are reduced.
Five special trains carried delegations numbered at 3,400 by railroad officials from New York city to the capital. The groups, including about 1,500 members of a teachers union, paraded to the hearing with banners proclaiming:

"Tax the upper brackets, restore relief cuts," "protect drafted men, provide differential pay," "less aid to Britain, more aid to needy," "defense for the people, not for the bankers," "school educates, war mutilates."

George H. McCaffrey, executive director of the New York Merchants Association, made the first appeal for the minority, economy group with recommendation for further reductions in home relief and state aid to education.
"The nation stands today all but committed to an economic war," he shouted. "The taxpayers are the common soldiers. As such, they are entitled to the help any part of our economic structure can give."

Immediately, the State Federation of Teacher Unions issued a statement labelling such proposals "false economy." A spokesman criticized the governor's budget, which is $9,000,000 lower than at present, and termed his proposed two per cent reduction in state aid for education "callous."
"There are those who feel that the governor has changed his party affiliation and is now doing service for the Republican party," the federation said.

Bloc Is Outnumbered

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (P)—A taxpayer economy bloc, outnumbered more than five to one by advocates of increased spending, carried to the legislature today a threat of "grave resistance" against failure to reduce a proposed $385,000,000 budget by "several millions."
As thousands tramped the capitol before the opening of the annual public hearing on Governor Lehman's budget, the group advanced to legislators, already edified on state financial policy, a program demanding additional savings and condemning "outlandish special favors asked by spending, pressure groups."

Only 22 speakers representing business, taxpayer, civic and rural school groups brought appeal for budget reductions. Against them were 119 other speakers calling for more funds for education, labor, welfare, highways, county fairs and state employee salaries.
Even as the crowds of speakers and their supporters arrived by train, bus and private automobile, leaders of the Republican legislative majority reaffirmed party aims to placate both sides—at least partially—by restoring some of the governor's $1,500,000 cut in town and county highway appropriations while still having the budget total.

C. I. O. Joins Opposition

Arrayed against the economy pleas were assertions of the Greater New York Industrial Union Council, (C.I.O.) that the proposed budget for 1941-42 is "thoroughly inadequate to meet the essential needs of the people of this state."

The organization demanded increased home relief appropriations of "at least $15,000,000," an additional $500,000 for the labor department, full state aid for education, and opposed elimination of a one per cent emergency tax on personal income.
Dr. Frank D. Whalen, chairman of the joint committee of teachers organizations, asserted in a speech prepared for the hearing that retention of a two per cent cut in state aid for schools displayed "glaring ignorance."

"If we are to return to slates and sponges in our schools, let's be honest and say so," he declared.
Dr. Abraham Lefkowitz, vice chairman of the same group, asserted "it is high time that education, democracy's first line of defense, is not made a political football."
"By cutting state aid at a time

Informality at Lease-Lend Hearing

Wendell L. Willkie, one leg over a chair, seems perfectly at ease as he testifies in Washington before the senate foreign relations committee and urges passage of the administration's lease-lend-bill—with some modifications. The 1940 Republican Presidential candidate told the committee that if Britain falls, America inevitably will be at war a month or two later.

Agreements Between Alien and Domestic Concerns and Collusive Bids to Blame, He Says

Washington, Feb. 12 (P)—Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, testified today of indications that the government had been charged "excessive and unreasonable prices for essential war materials as a result of agreements between domestic and foreign companies and collusive bidding on army and navy contracts."
"Foreign companies," Arnold told the federal monopoly committee, "have taken out patents and entered into cartel arrangements in the United States on essential war materials for the purpose and with the effect of blocking American development and creating serious shortages."
He suggested that the committee recommend to congress an ex-

Log-Cabin Dweller, Friend of Krivitsky, Is of Opinion He Committed Suicide

Washington, Feb. 12 (P)—The last friend of General Walter G. Krivitsky to see him alive was convinced today that the former Russian secret agent committed suicide, but other associates held to the belief that he had been assassinated.
Washington police who examined Krivitsky's body after it was found in a hotel room Monday were strongly inclined to agree with the suicide theory advanced by the Russian's friend, Eitel Wolf Dobert.
Dobert, a former German army officer now living in a log cabin near Charlottesville, Va., said Krivitsky spent from Thursday until Sunday with him and while there penned the three farewell notes found beside his body. Dobert said he helped Krivitsky buy a .38 caliber pistol in Charlottesville. An identical blood-stained weapon was at Krivitsky's hand

Secretary of Navy Fails to Remark Otherwise on Willkie Proposal at Hearing

Two-to-One Approval of Aid Bill Predicted in Senate

Washington, Feb. 12 (P)—Secretary Knox said bluntly that the navy "can spare no more destroyers" when asked to comment on Wendell L. Willkie's proposal that five to 10 destroyers a month be supplied Great Britain.

"We haven't any more destroyers to spare than we need for a balanced fleet," the navy secretary told a press conference.

"I am not going to comment directly on Mr. Willkie's proposal, but my position as the secretary of the navy is against depleting our navy further."

In other administration quarters, nevertheless, the Willkie proposal was reported to be receiving serious consideration and some informed persons even went so far as to predict that very tangible results might be forthcoming if the British aid bill were enacted.

It was while testifying in support of this measure before the Senate foreign relations committee yesterday that Willkie reported England "desperately" needed more destroyers, in addition to the 50 already furnished by this country, to help protect her shipping from increasingly effective German attack.

No Details of Conference

He may have discussed the same situation when he called on President Roosevelt last night. Neither Willkie nor White House officials gave out details of the conference.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, merely told reporters today that "the two of them had a very satisfactory talk."

In explaining his point about a balanced fleet, Knox said that the navy had no future prospect of being able to release destroyers because "as more destroyers are built we are building other ships, too." To transfer destroyers under such circumstances, he asserted, would leave the fleet with an inadequate number.

"We are using every known way to expedite destroyer construction and the whole navy program," Knox continued. "There isn't an available yard that is not being used fully and we are seeking now to build new yards."

Aside from the matter of destroyers, Knox said in response to a question that he had been no requests from Great Britain for submarines or any other part of the fleet.

Generally Encouraging

The naval secretary reported that construction of warships and deliveries of war planes was ahead of schedule and generally "encouraging."

Warships, he said, are from 30 days to six months ahead and aircraft deliveries are "picking up" as the industry gets "into its stride after recovering from a slump in production due to the sudden demand for expansion of facilities."

Belief that destroyer construction time could be reduced further was expressed by Knox.

He noted that last month the Edison was completed in 10 months, which he said was eight months ahead of the average of such craft. In the World War, he recalled, the destroyer Reid was launched in 45 working days. But he explained that was an exception and, anyway, "there can be no comparison of these ships with our present destroyers, which are young cruisers."

With the question of more destroyers for Britain suddenly a live topic again, the Foreign Relations Committee cleared its record on two weeks of hearings to start final deliberations on the Lend-Lease legislation.

The bill's backers forecast decisive committee approval by a 2-to-1 margin, and said they expected the approved version of the measure to incorporate most, if not all of the changes made when the house passed it last week. They also said that the modifications suggested by Willkie yesterday would be given careful attention.

As the final witness for the bill, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee gave it emphatic and aggressive endorsement, as "the only way to render aid quickly enough" to embattled Britain. He called for its passage—with some modifications he mentioned—by an "almost unanimous vote."

The committee chamber, crammed with spectators who had wedged, shoved and elbowed their way in, heard Willkie outline the

Detective Discloses Part of Cash, Gems Located in House

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP)—Detective Chief Earl D. Carpenter said today part of $675,000 in cash and jewels reported missing from a Star Island estate had been found within the home. He predicted all of the treasure would be located.

Mrs. Rose Wells had reported to police the money and jewelry had disappeared from hiding places. Carpenter quoted Wells as saying his wife had hidden large sums on previous occasions, but that the cash always had been found later.

Detective Billy Baber said about $20,000 was located between bed blankets and that some of the gems also had been found.

Porch Catches Fire

Fire in a paper carton filled with waste paper on the rear porch of the house occupied by Clarence Van Demark at 349 South Wall street resulted in a call to the fire department on a still alarm at 12 o'clock noon today. The burning carton set fire to the siding of the porch, but the prompt arrival of the firemen saved the house. The fire damage was not heavy.

Knox Says Navy Can't Spare Ships

reasons why he was advocating the measure. He enumerated Britain's needs. He thought helping her was the best chance of keeping war from the United States. He foresaw the United States embroiled with the Axis powers in "a month or 60 days" if Britain fails.

Urges Swift Action

He urged swift enactment of the bill so that "immediate effective aid" could be rushed to Britain—and by that, he made clear, he meant throwing into the breach all the American equipment that could be spared.

He was specific about it—five to 10 destroyers a month, all the bombers that the air force could possibly spare, all the merchant tonnage that could be released to help maintain Britain's vital supply lines.

For many, this portion of his testimony packed the biggest surprise, and caused the most comment, for Willie was armed primarily with information obtained on the flying survey of England which he cut short to return to testify.

The destroyer appeal, particularly, had not been generally anticipated. Since the 50 destroyers were transferred to Britain last year in the swap for hemisphere bases, the question of additional transfers has bobbed up from time to time, only to be dismissed in official quarters.

Some little speculation centered on whether Willie discussed his destroyer proposal during the two hours he was closeted with President Roosevelt at the White House last night. The President in white tie and tails, left the annual army and navy reception to talk with the man who fought him so hard during 1940's presidential campaign.

Willkie, describing the conference in general terms, shed no light on the subject. He said he had discussed "the English situation, the Irish situation and the general international situation," and told Mr. Roosevelt about some "very efficient" production methods he had observed in England.

Touche Many Aspects

Willkie touched on many aspects of the international situation with a bearing—actual or potential—on adoption of the lend-lease program.

His opinions on some topics: "The war danger to the United States: 'No man can guarantee you that the policy of aid to Britain will not involve the United States in war. It is my solemn opinion, however, that providing the aid is effective, it (the bill) offers the best clear chance for us to keep out of war. If aid to Britain is going to get us into war, we're already in it.'"

"If Britain were to collapse tomorrow, we'd be in a war a month after, that's my guess. Well, a month or 60 days. I'm not signing a promissory note as to the time. If Britain collapses and Germany gets possession of the British navy, I wouldn't give a great deal for our chance of keeping out of war."

Senate Committee Approves 7 Aid Bill Amendments

tions considered undesirable by the administration.

In addition to the seven amendments which it approved, the committee also agreed to accept another house amendment providing that Congress could revoke the President's proposed British aid powers at any time by a concurrent resolution which would not be subject to Presidential veto.

Chairman George (D-Ga.), however, appointed a subcommittee to redraft this amendment entirely, some members saying they had doubts about the form in which the house had written it.

In addition to that amendment and the $1,300,000,000 limitation on transfers of existing military equipment, the six house changes acted to enter a combat area.

To require the President to report to Congress every 90 days on his operations under the bill.

To provide that all contracts executed in carrying out provisions of the legislation should be fulfilled before July 1, 1946.

To limit operation of the British Aid Bill to the period ending June 30, 1943.

To provide that nothing in the act could be construed to authorize naval escort of convoys.

To secure "consultation" between the President and army and navy chiefs before transfer of existing military equipment could be ordered by the President.

The amendment reported rejected was a proposal by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) which would have required certification by the army chief of staff and the chief of naval operations that equipment was not needed for American defense forces before it could be transferred by the President to any other nation.

Would Have Ferry

Ferry service between Catskill and Greendale this year was discussed at the meeting of the executive committee of the Catskill Chamber of Commerce this week, and it was decided to contact New York Central railroad officials and discuss the matter with them to see if some solution can be arrived at. The ferry problem was referred to the Chamber of Commerce by the village trustees who had received a notice from the ferry's management that it would not operate a ferry service this year between Catskill and Greendale.

when the state can secure more revenue than it needs, you believe your friendship for public education," he added, and "shout from the legislative housetop to fifth columnists that you are selling democracy short when you can spare $21,000,000."

A plea for reduction of taxation on stock transfers was brought to the hearing by William Mc C. Martin, Jr., president of the New York Stock Exchange, who said "it has been demonstrated repeatedly that a growing portion of our business has been lost to other states."

"Using the dismal 1940 results as an exhibit," he continued, "it is not too much to say that instead of being an important producer of revenue as it has been in the past, the present stock transfer tax is exerting an influence that is likely to force tax proceeds down to an inconsequential figure in budget calculations."

Hart I. Scott, publisher of the Waverly Sun-Recorder, and trustee of the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, maintained "any attempt to deviate from the economy road will be met with great resistance."

McKenna Sells Interest In Broadcasting Company

John R. McKenna, manager of the Kingston Broadcasting Company, who has held minority interests in the company, has sold his interests and severed his connection with the local broadcasting company.

Mr. McKenna, who is a radio engineer, came to Kingston in 1938 and perfected the plans for the station.

Horris S. Novik, director of WNYC, New York City, and Louis J. Furman, newspaper dealer of Long Island, the majority stockholders of the company, have acquired Mr. McKenna's interests.

Jury Awards Couple $50,000 Against Physician

New Brunswick, N. J., Feb. 12 (AP)—A Middlesex county jury last night awarded Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stemmer of North Brunswick township $50,000 in a damage suit arising from the birth of an idiot son six years ago. The verdict was directed against Dr. William Klein of New Brunswick, who was accused in the complaint of diagnosing Mrs. Stemmer's pregnancy as a tumor and prescribing X-ray treatment which allegedly caused the birth of a mentally deranged child.

House Votes Fund

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—The House voted $375,000,000 today to operate the Works Project Administration until July 1. It was a fund supplementing $975,650,000 originally authorized by Congress for the first eight months of this year. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Long-Time Correspondence

A 45-year-old promise to exchange two letters each week gives three sisters a record for long-time correspondence.

It was in 1894 that Mrs. Harry Koerbel of Jeannette, Pa.; Mrs. Ola Lutz of Donora, Pa.; and Mrs. Walter Bradford of Marion, Ind., agreed to write their weekly letters.

Since then, two daughters of Mrs. Koerbel have joined the "round robin" correspondence and they estimate they've exchanged 17,576 pieces of mail.

The sisters began the marathon letter writing because they were forced to live in widely separated towns and they wanted to maintain contact.

The daughters of Mrs. Koerbel, Mrs. Al A. Engstrom of Ambridge, Pa., and Mrs. A. D. Welty of Greensburg, Pa., joined the letter "trust" 17 years ago.

The five women are proud of the fact that in the 45 and 17 respective years, they've never missed a "post-time." On postage alone, they estimate they've spent more than $800.

Cancer and other malignant tumors are responsible for 11.7 per cent of all deaths among whites and only 5.1 per cent of all deaths among negroes, according to the census bureau.

Tuberculosis in all its forms is responsible for 9.4 per cent of all negro deaths, according to the census bureau, while among whites it is responsible for only 3.8 per cent of all deaths.

Conference Meets Again to Discuss Milwaukee Strike

Principal Issue at Stake Is Question of Union Security; Chicago Tieup Looms

(By the Associated Press)

A four-cornered conference was called back into session today in an effort to negotiate an end to the strike which for three weeks has stopped production on $45,000,000 in defense orders at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plant at Milwaukee.

Representatives of the company, the striking CIO-United Automobile Workers, the U. S. Conciliation service and the office of production management arranged for another meeting at Washington after an unproductive six-hour session last night.

An O. P. M. representative said the principal issue at stake was the question of union security.

Another big strike, that affecting 6,500 employees of the International Harvester Company's Chicago Tractor Works, threatened to spread to the company's Richmond, Ind., plant, where 1,200 are employed. A C. I. O. union spokesman said the Richmond workers had voted 5 to 1 in favor of a strike unless their demands are met by tomorrow afternoon.

Holds Huge Orders

International Harvester holds several million dollars worth of defense contracts, its officials said. At Cincinnati two plants of the Powell Valve Co. fell idle yesterday in what the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee (C. I. O.) insisted was a "holiday," not a strike. But a union official said the "holiday" would continue unless the company met the group's wage demands. Eight hundred workers were out.

Another wage dispute at Niagara Falls, N. Y., brought on a walkout of 300 C. I. O. union employees at the Vanadium Corporation of America.

There were threats of a strike of C. I. O. workers at the 1,300-employee plant of the Seiberling Rubber Company at Akron, O., after the company turned down demands for an 8 1/2 per cent wage increase. Seiberling is working on defense orders for bullet-sealing tires and tubes and anti-gas equipment.

A C. I. O. Steel Union spokesman at Berwick, Pa., said "there will be a complete stoppage of work" at the American Car and Foundry plant there tomorrow unless agreement is reached on demands for wage adjustments, a union shop and group insurance. The company has several million dollars worth of defense contracts for armored tanks.

At Youngstown, Ohio, some 150 C. I. O. employees of the Youngstown Metal Products Co. walked out in what their leaders said was a dispute over wages. The plant, which makes parts for manufacturers working on defense orders, was shut down pending negotiations.

Replacements Are Asked

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP)—State selective service headquarters wants each local draft area to supply, besides its quota for the fifth induction period, February 17-28, enough men to replace all those rejected earlier. Announcing a new substitution policy yesterday, a spokesman said the number of men from each area who are rejected next week will be added to the quota for the sixth call in March.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Feb. 12 — District School Superintendent and Mrs. Ralph Johnson of New Paltz were among the guests and members of the school board recently entertained at a turkey dinner by the girls of the Homemaking A Class of the Marlborough Central School.

Irving C. Barnes, New Paltz president of the Ulster County Agricultural Society, presided at a testimonial dinner given last week for E. W. Hathaway at the Stuyvesant Hotel, Kingston. Mr. Hathaway resigned as secretary of the society. The dinner was given by the officers and directors of the organization. Mr. Barnes presented to Mr. Hathaway a billfold and a sum of money in behalf of the directors in recognition of his years of service to the organization.

William Sears of Highland is in charge of the New Paltz office of the Ulster County Highway Department while Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Z. Bogert are on their vacation, spending a month in Florida.

Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, president of the New Paltz Normal School board, has been appointed chairman of the Ulster County Red Cross.

Kenneth Hasbrouck spent the past week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dunham at Babylon, L. I.

Mr. Lester Wager of Modena was a visitor in town last Tuesday.

Donald Weaver, who has been employed at Watertown, has returned to his home until work is resumed next spring.

Harold Dingee of Clintondale, a carpenter, has taken a position at Fort Dix, N. J., where much construction work is being done.

Gerald B. McCall, Church street, New Paltz, was among eight other men selected for induction by the local board at New Paltz sent to Manhattan induction station at 71st Infantry Armory, 34th street and Park avenue, New York, last Tuesday.

Dr. George A. MacDonald, superintendent of the Newburgh District of the Methodist Church, will preside at the last quarterly conference of the church year at the New Paltz Methodist Church Friday, February 14.

The Sunday morning sermon subject in the Dutch Reformed Church February 9 was "The Place of the Church College," the Rev. Gerret Wulfschlegel in charge. In the Methodist Church, the Rev. Elmer Bostock's theme was "The Family of God." The Students Fellowship Club met in the church parlor Monday evening for discussion, dinner and recreation.

Theresa Ranalli and Eileen Bennett of the Normal School spent the week-end in Wappingers Falls. The New Paltz Rifle Club lost to the Cornwall club Wednesday at a match shoot on the Cornwall indoor range. The winners took the decision by the slim margin of 15 points. Abram Paradise, New Paltz, led his group with 198.

Betty Haegler, 8, of Gardiner was taken to the Kingston Hospital Monday for a fracture of the left arm and other injuries suffered when she was struck by the car of Bernard Brennan of Lake Minnewaska as she ran in front of the car. She was taken to the office of Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt of New Paltz for emergency treatment and then to the hospital.

Corporal Norman Baker of the New Paltz State Police investigated the accident.

Trappers in southern Ulster county report the present season a poor one. Game seems to be scarce, although hides are bringing a fair price. Fox hunters say too that they have had little good sport this year. Jimmy Scott, an eight-year-old trapper living near New Paltz and Ohioville this week found a large mink in one of his traps for which he received $8.

GRANGE NEWS

New Paltz, Feb. 12 — Huguenot Grange held its first February meeting Saturday night, February 1. There was a good attendance and the business meeting opened on time. Jacob Schreiber of the Legislative committee spoke briefly of state taxes and the distribution of the tax dollar. Following the business meeting the group was entertained by Mr. Dixon of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., and his assistants who presented the film "At Your Fingertips." Mrs. Harold DuBois sang, "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Sweet Mystery of Life" accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Buchanan at the piano. Fred DuBois gave an interesting account of his southern trip which brought the program to a close. The host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Marsh assisted by their committee served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Browning Wins Five Firsts at Garden Show

Five first awards in succession and six seconds were taken by Mrs. Robert Browning of Tokalon Kennels, West Hurley at the 65th Annual Westminster Kennel Club show in Madison Square Garden, it was announced today. Blue Collie Tokalon Prince of the Blues won the first. He won in the Open Blue Merle and Class for Junior dogs and bitches and the Open Bitches Blue Merle was taken by Tokalon Silver Lustre.

Mrs. Browning won the best Brace with Tokalon, The Crown Prince and The Bell of the Day of Tokalon. In the Cocker Spaniel Red, she won with Tokalon Golden Knight, novice dog red.

Three other winners were dogs bred by Mrs. Browning and sold to others. Mrs. Browning is slated to act as a judge for the third largest show of the nation at Boston, February 22.

Mrs. George Gillison spent Monday in Kingston.

Offices Closed

Today being a holiday all of the offices in the city hall were closed with the exception of police headquarters and the city engineer's office. The members of the staff of the city engineer had been notified to report for work this morning. City Clerk E. J. Dempsey was also in his office for a few hours today as he had received several telephone calls from residents who desired to obtain dog licenses. There was no session of police court today.

Rugg's Books Favored

Ridgefield, N. J., Feb. 12 (AP)—Voters have sanctioned the use in the Ridgefield public school system of social science text books written by Professor Harold O. Rugg of Columbia Teachers College. By a vote of 417 to 350, the electorate approved the books last night in a referendum which eliminated a campaign led by the Walter Herbert Roemer Post 221, American Legion, for discontinuance of Rugg's works on the ground they are "un-American and subversive."

Presbyterian Supper

The second in the series of church family suppers and study hours being held during February by the congregation of the Roundout Presbyterian Church will be held Thursday evening in the chapel. During the afternoon the women of the church will meet to sew, and supper will be served at 6 o'clock, followed by the study period.

Wild-Eyed? Not At All

"Pansie," owned by Mrs. Voleska Radice of New York, seems to have a wild-eyed look but, really, he just happens to look like that all the time. He's the only Mexican hairless topknot entered in the Westminster Kennel Club's 65th annual dog show in New York.

Arnold Testifies U. S. Is Charged Excessive Prices

panded anti-trust enforcement program in the light of disclosures he said had been made by a justice department investigation.

Arnold added that "it seems probable that vital military information has been disclosed to foreign companies through the requirement of itemized descriptive royalty payments in patent license agreements."

"Before a grand jury in New York," he testified, "we are constantly uncovering startling instances of German control of defense industries as well as illegal price fixing among American concerns."

He said that at least 31 industries producing vital war materials were awaiting investigation because the anti-trust division which he heads does not have facilities to deal with them.

He told the committee that four grand juries should be impaneled in New York, Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles with the special duty of investigating restraints of trade in the production of war materials.

First to Testify

Arnold was the first to testify at a series of hearings arranged by the committee to consider its final report.

Dealing with possible restraints of trade other than those directly affecting defense industry Arnold made these recommendations:

"Housing—Grand jury investigation of restraints of trade in building should be established in all centers where housing shortages are appearing because of war industries. We should also conduct grand jury investigations of retail lumber in at least four areas in the United States."

"Food—Grand juries should investigate the restraints in the processing and distribution of food in order to prevent artificial increase in the nation's food bill."

"Household appliances—The necessity of establishing priorities for defense industries is going to put an inevitable burden on all sorts of household appliances such as refrigerators, gas ranges and electrical equipment. We must not tolerate conspiracies to take advantage of this situation."

"Clothing—We must watch our clothing bill. There is a real shortage of some textile materials, but scarcity prices must not be multiplied by monopoly prices. Grand jury investigations of the distribution of drugs and medical supplies should be conducted throughout the United States. We have begun work on this problem but we do not have the funds or the men at present to carry on grand jury investigation on as wide a scale as is desirable."

Arnold also recommended an immediate grand jury investigation "to break up any combinations which are destroying the balance of prices between the things which the farmers sell and the things which the farmers buy."

He listed agricultural machinery, the packing industry, cottonseed oil, the canning industry, fresh fruits and vegetables, and the buying methods of chain stores.

Scholar Returns Here

Joseph D. Scholar, who was transferred a month ago from Kingston to the Utica store of the Kalamazoo Stove Co., has received another promotion from the concern, which gave him the supervision of its Ulster and Greene county combined territory. Musicians Plan Mardi Gras Here

Six Local Bands Will Take Part in Union Event

A musician's Mardi Gras will be held in the municipal auditorium on Monday evening, February 24, under the auspices of the local Musicians' Union when music for dancing will be furnished by six local bands.

This carnival of music promises to be one of the outstanding social events of the year and among the well known local band leaders who will be at the carnival are Paul Purcell, Phil Toffel, Roger Baer, Mike Marchuk, Jacob Mollott and Arnold Stanley.

Alderman Paul Zucca, who is also a widely known musician, is general chairman of the evening.

The doors will open at 7:30 o'clock and there will be an entertainment from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock followed by general dancing.

World Day of Prayer

To Be Held February 28

This year the World Day of Prayer will come February 28, the first Friday in Lent, with women from all denominations uniting in the theme, "Thy Kingdom Come." The service in Kingston will be held at 3 o'clock at St. John's Episcopal Church.

The program was written by the members of the World Day of Prayer committee in Shanghai, a committee composed of Americans, Chinese and Japanese. In a year when China is the foreign theme, it is a rich demonstration of the very steadiness and beauty needed in a war torn world.

The World Day of Prayer is sponsored by the National Committee of Church Women representing the National Council of Church Women, the Foreign Missions Conference and the Council of Women for Home Missions.

The service at St. John's will be under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary, the missionary society of the Episcopal Church. Representatives from other women's organizations in churches in the city, the Salvation Army and the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. will also have a part in the service. A choir composed of women from all the organizations will lead in the hymns.

Turf Club Closes

Oakland, Calif., Feb. 12 (AP)—Like the horse player whose bad luck went on and on and then got worse—the Golden Gate Turf Club finally hit bottom today—shut down indefinitely and in the hands of a receiver.

Inclement rains which on five occasions delayed the opening of the ultra-modern $1,500,000 plant on San Francisco bay and limited actual racing to five skimpy days, finally turned the new track into such a dangerously mushy condition that further racing was deemed unsafe.

The Gettysburg Address

The following is a replica from the original in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., of The Gettysburg Address delivered by Abraham Lincoln in 1863:

Address delivered at the dedication of the cemetery at Gettysburg.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Abraham Lincoln.

Young Lady (coming in with partner from room where progressive bridge is being played)—Oh, mother dear, I've captured the booby.

Mother—Well, my dear daughter, bring him here and let me kiss him.

Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday is observed today was one of the best loved and respected presidents of the United States. All are familiar with the life and history of this, one of America's foremost statesmen.

He—Of course, I'll be liberal with my money after we are married, darling. I'll spend it on you, as fast as I make it. Now, what else do you want to know?

She—How fast do you make it?

LINCOLN: Here's to one I've loved by all! Here's to him who gave the call! Here's to one for equal rights! Strength in Union—blacks and whites—

Here's to one both strong and brave! Here's to him who freed the slave! Here's to one I've loved by all! Stainless flag—red, white and blue.

Here's to one a martyred chief! Here's to one who saved the world! Here's to one who won the prize! Here's to one who won the prize!

Jones (proudly)—My wife won the $100 prize for the best essay against using traps to capture wild animals.

Smith—Fine! What did she do with the money?

Jones—Bought a mink coat.

Are You Licked?

If you feel like you are licked, you ought to ponder the experience of Abraham Lincoln. His record runs something like this:

Failed in business—1831.
Defeated for Legislature—1832.
Failed in business again—1833.
Elected to Legislature—1834.
Sweetheart died—1835.
Nervous breakdown—1836.
Defeated for Speaker—1838.
Defeated for Governor—1840.
Defeated for Land Office—1843.
Defeated for Congress—1843.
Elected to Congress—1846.
Defeated for re-election—1848.
Defeated for Senate—1855.
Defeated for Vice-President—1856.
Defeated for Senate—1858.
Elected President—1860.

Lincoln's Favorite Poem

Oh why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

Like a swift-fleeting meteor, a fast flying cloud,

A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave

He passeth from life to his rest in the grave.

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade,

Be scattered around, and together be laid;

And the young and the old, the low and the high,

Shall moulder to dust, and together shall die.

Abraham Lincoln was our tallest president, six feet four inches. Lincoln has had his picture on eight different United States postage stamps. He made only five autographed copies of his famous Gettysburg address.

ALONG CAME CINDERELLA

By VIVIAN GREY

YESTERDAY: Lovely Daye and Roger Cosgrave have met by accident, and by chance also Roger is to be married to Emily Perry in a month. Yet in spite of Roger's background of wealth and Lovely's hard life in the tenement district of New York, their attraction for each other is growing. Now Roger has left Emily at her beautiful home after a party and is driving madly to New York. And he knows he is mad—

Chapter Seven

Stolen Meeting

ONCE he saw her, Roger tried to tell himself, it would all be over. He'd know the thing for what it was then. An impulsive, feverish whim. And he would be rid of it. And could go back to Emily with a heart free of all these shadowy uncertainties that had suddenly possessed it.

His foot pressed the accelerator. Ossining! Tarrytown! Hastings! Yonkers! They seemed to fly by. And then he was on the Drive speeding down town.

It was an unhappy looking walkup, dingy, forbidding, that bore the street number Lovely had given him.

Roger climbed the stairs, scarcely aware of the odors that weighted the atmosphere of each floor and gave clue to the nationality of its occupants.

Gert opened the door and stared at him, unable to mask the surprise on her face. Roger recognized her as the sister of Lovely's story as she had told it to him that morning.

No, Lovely hadn't come back from the movie yet. Maybe she'd stopped for beer and a sandwich. Sometimes they did. Would he come in? The last hesitantly, because Gert knew Joe would be with Lovely and that might not be so good.

Two men after the same girl. And two such different men. Instinctively Gert disapproved of Roger for Lovely. Not as an individual but as a class. Men from his walk of life rarely meant good for a girl like Lovely. Yet there was something about Roger—but he was speaking.

"I've got my car. I'll just wait down there."

He hadn't long to wait. Lovely came swinging along with Joe. They were walking close. A knife seemed to turn in Roger's heart as he saw Joe's arm around the girl.

And then suddenly he knew Lovely was aware of him, had recognized his car there at the curb. He was about to speak to her but caught something in the atmosphere. She didn't want him to speak. She was hurrying along. He heard her say:

"No, not tonight! Don't come up, Joe. It's been a swell evening but I'm tired now. Too much dancing. I guess. Rain check for tomorrow night!"

Joe tried to linger, tried to persuade. But Lovely blew him a kiss and her heels clicked in the hall.

"See you tomorrow night then!" Joe said. But he was not to see her that night. Or the next night. Or for many after that.

Joe turned and moved slowly down the street. Roger sat waiting. Should he go up? He was sure Lovely had seen him.

Late Drive

SUDDENLY she was at the car, opening the door and slipping in beside him. The strange dark weight within him lifted. Night in that neglected street had become magic. He caught the faint fragrance of her—cheap perfume he knew—but the most satisfying scent that ever had assailed his nostrils.

She had on a dress instead of the slacks of the morning. A thin tight little dark silk that suggested almost nothing under it. The lovely curves of her went to his head and to his heart. It was a moment before his voice could rise through the mist of emotion that swept him.

"Lovely! I had to see you!" "Jeepers creepers, boy! When I saw your car I thought I was seeing things. Had to do some quick thinking to get Joe started on his way. I'm—but Roger's voice interrupting was compelling."

"Lovely!" Emotion was a torrent in it, a steady surging torrent. Devastating. Sweeping before it, like frail debris in a spring flood, awareness of all other things. Leaving only the girl beside him, the sweet alluring curves of her, the luscious temptation of her lips, the subtly suggested passion weaving like a thread of gold through her voice.

Her face was upturned to his in a moment of wonder. Her lips were soft against his. Warm. Alive. Like sweet, tender, clinging hands caressing his very soul. His arms around her were tensely possessive.

Finally he turned from her wordless and started the car, pressing his foot hard on the gas pedal. Lovely leaned back against the cushions and said nothing. It was no time for words. There was no need for them. They had spoken to each other in their caresses with such definiteness. Words could add nothing.

Roger drove madly. North. He cut a path through the night, straight north.

It wasn't until they were on the Parkway with its sweeping fields on either side scenting the night with the pleasant odor of summer that Lovely spoke.

"Where are we going?" she asked, a waltzy gleam in her voice as she still looked up at the stars. "Not that it matters. I never knew anything could be so perfect."

The question brought Roger up with a start. Where were they going? He had been aware of nothing beyond the desire to take her away with him. Have her alone. Know the depths and the heights of their mingled emotion. He told her exactly that.

"I hadn't thought," he said. "I must have been mad. The only thing I could think of was having you alone, taking you away with me. This isn't being very fair to you, is it?" Slackening the speed of the car.

"It's all right by me, good looking!" On a gay note. "I'm getting a swell ride through a swell night in a swell car. And what've I got to lose?"

Roger swung the car into a curved space at the side of the Parkway and stopped. He turned to look silently at the beauty of the girl for a moment. Then:

"Do you realize what you've said?" It's past one. Your legitimate boy friend supposed he took you home. By all that's right you're supposed to be there—longer, but you're out here on a lonely road with me, a man you met only yesterday. You know nothing about me." He hesitated. "But I'm going to tell you this much—you'll never meet a man who'll want you more desperately than I do. I'm on the ropes, Lovely. It's your beauty but it's more than that. It's something I can't put into words, and I don't sure how much you should trust me."

Lovely was thinking. Out of her thought came one murmured word: "Home."

Home. She hadn't any. It was Gert's home and Gert had a right to it alone.

Gert had a right to a chance at happiness without a sister messing things up for her. Of course there was Joe, who was ready to marry her any time she said the word. But what could he give her? What Gert had. And that wasn't what she wanted. Anyhow Joe still had his mother to support.

Two women on his small pay. Lovely turned her lush young beauty to the youth beside her.

"So what, good looking?" she asked, a new softness in her voice. "All right." Roger was stepping on the gas. The motor responded instantly. The car moved out into the highway once more and was rolling north. "But I've warned you."

Lovely smiled into the night. Her soft hand reached out and touched his on the wheel. Her head nestled a little closer against his shoulder.

"This is swell," she murmured, a warm lush note in her voice that struck a matching chord in his being and echoed and re-echoed through his awareness.

The Cottage

FINALLY the car was on the Albany Post Road again and swinging right on a secondary highway and up a hill. Lovely felt they were climbing straight to heaven. Up and up. Stars seemed very close. The moon a lovely silver disk that in a moment she might take in her hands. Lovely felt herself reaching for it. And then drew back. Her hands were always reaching for something. Wanting, taking hands. Never had they had all of everything they wanted.

Roger's tenderness was like a warm flame lighting all her life. Touching it with beauty. Joe never gave her anything like that. He loved her. But his love had no magic.

The car turned into a drive and stopped. Lovely thought she made out the lines of a small house in the shadows under tall trees.

"Home at last!" She said lightly, trying to make a gay passing adventure of the thing.

But Roger, around at the side of the car, opening the door and taking her in his arms as she stepped out, looked down at her with possessive tenderness.

"You may have something there," he said. He kissed her slowly and with passion. He held her a moment entranced by the sweetness of her. He liked the lightning changes of her mood. It was like swift movement over crystal clear water.

They walked to the door of the cottage. Roger produced a key and opened it. The light he switched on revealed a pleasant and comfortable interior. Colonial.

Something about it surprised her. It was all too real for an escape. She had expected a summer party cottage. Cheap furniture burned by cigarettes and ringed by glasses. This was something different.

She had nothing to say.

"I didn't even ask you if you were hungry," Roger turned to her smiling.

Having her under a roof with him some of the urgency seemed to leave him. She was here with him in familiar walls. She couldn't think of other things now beyond the passion for possession that had driven him.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Feb. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scherer of Brooklyn spent the week-end at their state road place in the east end of the village. Mr. Scherer is connected with Consolidated Edison Co.

Mrs. R. W. Longyear, one of Shokan's oldest residents, is reported as somewhat improved. Mrs. Longyear has been a patient at the Kingston Hospital for the past week.

Schuyler C. Schultz of Kingston was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country the latter part of the week.

Icy conditions prevail on many driveways and along the back roads as a result of Friday's rain and the ensuing cold snap. Ashokan Reservoir tributaries have been over their banks in some places for the past several days.

The February meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, February 12 at the home of Miss Ann Ingalls.

A local marriage of Thursday, February 10, 1887, was that of Leo Davis to Golden VanBenschoten, both of Olive. The groom was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. VanBenschoten and his bride a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Davis. The officiating clergyman at the wedding was the Rev. J. Talmadge Bergen of Shokan.

Mrs. Delaney Boice and son, Leo, Kingston residents who have been in California for several months, were guests recently at the home of Mrs. Boice's brother, Otis Wright.

Friends of John Alexander are glad to see him around again following a serious illness.

Edgar Gray, Glenford resident who has a number of friends and relatives here, is getting along fairly well at a Kingston hospital.

Mr. Gray is a brother of Mrs. Clarence Phillips and Elting Gray of Shokan.

Mrs. C. G. Fuller is greeting her friends again after having been ill at her home for the last two weeks.

Elwyn Winchell, a hospital patient in Kingston, continues to improve and may soon return to his home in the village center.

IN THE NEWS

By the AP Feature Service

New airmails came recently from Columbia, the country believed by the American Geological survey to have the "largest potential oilfields." Petroleum resources are known to exist under 34,000 square miles of the country's productive surface, although it is only about 495,000 square miles in total area.

This South American country until the last decade had few roads better than trails; even today it is reported to have better airmail service than other postal service.

It produces about half of the world's much sought after quantities of petroleum. Most of the people earn their living on farms, with coffee the great source of wealth and cattle raising important.

Recently Columbia made much ado about its Indian ruins and its colonial antiquities. Efforts to preserve both prehistoric and historic art are reflected in the drawings included in the designs on the new stamps.

The complete set of new Colombian airmails includes nine small stamps and four oblongs.

The values: Five centavos gray showing "Monumento PreColombino"; 10 centavos orange with prehistoric sculpture entitled "Eldorado"; red 15 centavos with harbor scene inscribed "Cartagena fortification Espanola"; 20 centavos green with a scene from colonial Bogota, the capital; 30 centavos blue with another view of the "Monumento PreColombino";

The sketch of the 10 centavos also is repeated on the violet 40 centavos with the same inscription; the blue-green 50 centavos repeats the drawing on the 15; the 60 centavos utilizes the drawing also on the 20; and the 80 centavos olive-gray uses the Pre-Colombian monument as design.

The oblongs also are indicative of Colombia's special interest in preserving the history of the country.

The one peso blue shows a painting of the Proclamation of Independence. The 3 peso shows the same scene. The 5 peso green and 2 peso red show the national library at Bogota. All of the stamps are inscribed "Correo Aero" and "Sobreporte."

A few sets of new Swiss stamps have arrived in this country. The designs show old paintings, one monument and include drawings of men as warriors except for one statesman. Some of these are taken from old murals.

WEST HURLEY

West Hurley, Feb. 12.—The Epworth League of the Methodist Church held a social at the church hall Thursday evening, January 30. Various games were played and enjoyed by all. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

Newly elected officers of the Epworth League are: President, Harriet Emig; vice president, June Stoutenburg; second vice president, Robert Nussbaum; third vice president, Dorothy Emig; fourth vice president, George Berry, Jr.; secretary, Claudia Williams; treasurer, Phyllis VanWagenen; and pianist, Mary VanWagenen.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Co-operative School Club was held at the school Tuesday evening, February 4, at 7:30 o'clock. Plans were made to have a Valentine social at the school Friday evening, February 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Every and sons, Ronald and Harold of Haverstraw were recent visitors here.

George Berry's many friends are glad to see him out after being ill at his home with a severe cold. There are still a few cases of mumps in the vicinity.

Eva Salvucci was injured while sleighriding recently. It is reported she received a concussion.

A number of the young folks from Woodstock are planning a roller skating party at Spring Lake Tuesday evening, February 11. Those who are planning on going from here are George and Aubrey Berry, Dorothy and Harriet Emig, Donald and Art Rice, Jr.

The Epworth League is having a clam chowder supper at the Methodist Church hall on Wednesday evening, February 12 at 5:30 p. m.

Mrs. David McDonald, Mrs. James Hogan and children, Helen, Roberta and Arthur, have returned after spending several weeks in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Emig entertained ten guests at their home Sunday.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Feb. 12.—Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Marlborough Central School, a joint meeting of the Marlborough and Milton Parent-Teacher Association was held for Founder's Day. The guest speaker was Mrs. Arthur Trautz of Highland who spoke on "The Role of the Parent Teacher Association in the World Crisis or Defending the Home Front." Following the talk by Mrs. Trautz refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. Fred A. Velle, Mrs. Albert Marcks, Mrs. W. Barton Harris and Mrs. Frank Johnston.

Olof Sundstrom, town clerk for the Town of Marlborough since 1938, resigned his office last week. Fred S. Fowler, owner of the local Snowball store was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Sundstrom.

Last week a deal was completed between the Port Auto Sales Co., of Newburgh and Olof Sundstrom of Marlborough, and about March the Port Auto Sales Co. will take possession of the garage building of the former Sundstrom Motor Co. The garage building will be used as a show room as well as a service station. Samuel Coutant, local salesman will be retained by the Port Auto Sales Co., but no head for the new business has yet been named.

The local firemen were called out to a chimney fire Monday night about 11 o'clock to the tenant house of Townsend Velle of the South Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harcourt and Crawford Harcourt left by plane from LaGuardia Field on Friday morning for Miami.

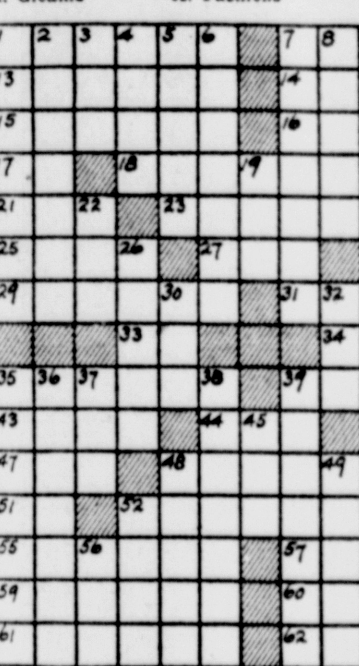

The February meeting of the Men's Club of Marlborough will be held on Tuesday evening in the home of John Gow, Western avenue. Edward C. Quimby is chairman of the entertainment committee and the refreshments will be in charge of Ralph Clark, Frank Baker and Mr. Dawson. The house committee are: John Quimby and Edward Chaudhury.

On Tuesday afternoon a silver tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Cosman, with Mrs. Calvin Staples, Sr., assisting hostesses. Proceeds will benefit the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Augusta McElarth, who has been ill at St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, for the past several weeks due to pneumonia, has returned to the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wal-

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Self Reprieve
Statesville, N. C.—L. O. White's mule wandered from the stable into the highway and before the animal could get his bearings three automobiles struck him.

People gathered and decided to put the mule out of all misery. But while a gun was being sought, he jumped to his feet, returned to his stall and the next morning ate a hearty breakfast.

Improvement
New Haven, Conn.—A freshman who got an "F" on a quiz complained to the instructor that he had studied the wrong assignment and asked him to "fix it up," says the Yale Daily News.

The obliging prof said he'd do his best, kept the paper overnight and returned it to the student graded "F plus."

Paradox
Oklahoma City—General P. Foster is just a private.

It's true. The 23-year-old Ada, Okla., youth, enlisting in the air corps, said that was his name.

Friends
Heppner, Ore.—When Alva Jones' Tomcat first quenched his thirst at the goldfish bowl, Jones thought Tom had gastronomic designs on the itty bitties.

He was wrong. Puss showed no interest in them—continued to visit the bowl. Now the fish remain calm and swim serenely about as the cats leaps for a drink.

Figger This One Out
Minneapolis—There is trouble at the University of Minnesota over figures.

Co-eds are complaining about the bathing suits they have to rent for swimming, claiming that they stretch and lose their shape when wet.

"This," worriedly said Harvey Stenson, social program consultant, "is one problem I wish I could figure out."

Triple Trouble
West Hartford, Ill.—T. J. Elkins, a newspaperman, hasn't had to grope for stories lately. They've been following him around.

His car caught fire and was damaged extensively a few days ago. While the car was being repaired, Elkins' wife was burned severely.

Elkins was visiting her at the hospital this week when a policeman rushed in and announced the Elkins' home was afire.

UNION CENTER
Union Center, Feb. 12.—Bessie Zimmerman attended the funeral of her aunt, Adelle Fish, at Walden Saturday.

Marge Utley and Louis DeGraff of Kingston were guests of Marge Fowler Monday evening.

June Zimmerman has recovered from the mumps and is again attending school.

Theresa Kennedy of Eddyville spent the week-end with Roberta Fowler.

Mrs. E. Saqui of New York spent Friday and Saturday at her summer home here.

Mrs. Leslie Williams and sons are ill of mumps.

The factory value of baskets for fruit and vegetable industry is more than $14,000,000 annually, according to the Census.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

We've put one over on the yardsticks

Here are FOUR NEW ADDITIONS to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Motorcar Bigness into Handy Size

TIME was when you measured a car's ability and standing by the yardstick distance from bumper to bumper.

But not any more—not entirely.

Not since Buick made ready the four new additions to its 1941 SPECIAL series that are built for big-car travel tastes—and small-car garages!

They are cars to take the measure of almost anything on the road in the lit and life of their 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL engines.*

They are cars that doff their bonnets to no others for smart appearance, rich, comfortable interiors and thoroughgoing Buick quality.

They are cars with room for all the family, with all the little Buick luxury touches, with the unrivaled comfort of Buick's all-coil springing and steady-going road-ability.

But bumper to bumper they are shorter—so they fit your garage.

Their wheelbase is 118 inches—so they park like a bicycle and flit through traffic with ridiculous ease.

They go farther on every gallon—farther, even, than other Buick models—and they've got a get-up-and-get-away-from-there lift that gets you where you're going pronto!

So you can't take their measure with a yardstick.

You've got to measure them by what they do for you—in the easier handling, the bigger thrill, the extra convenience they add.

And when you hear the prices on them—prices made lower by their new compactness—you'll find they measure up plenty BIG in the dollar-for-dollar value they put within your reach.

How about seeing them—now?

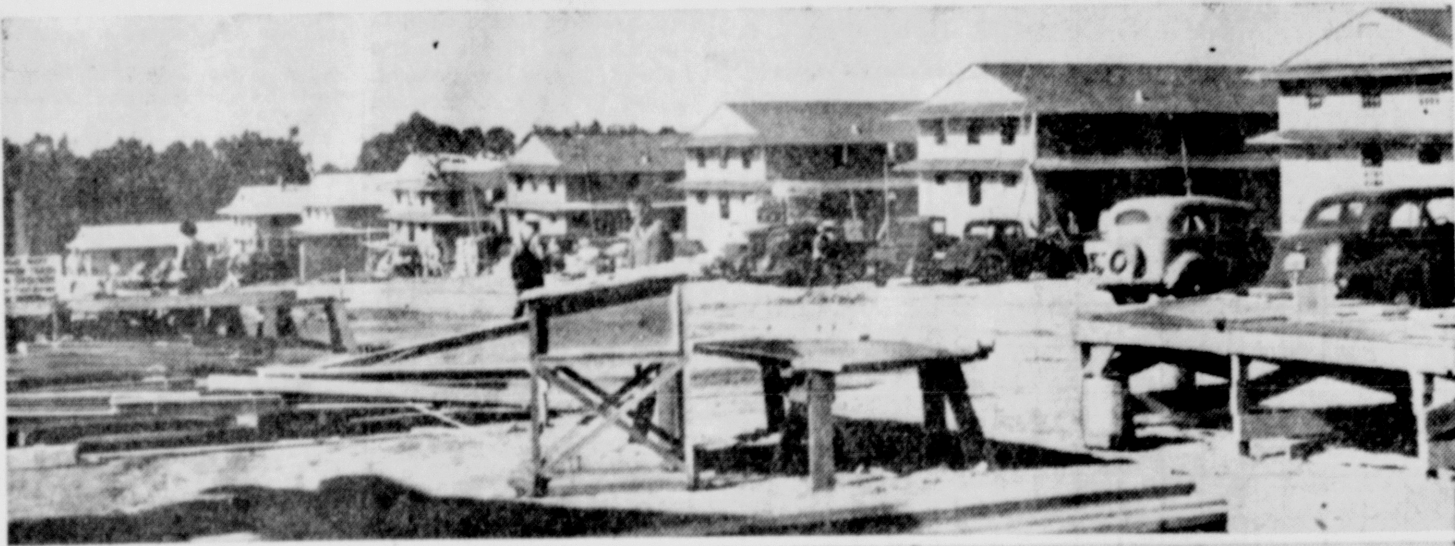

*Add Compound Carburetion at slight extra cost and horsepower steps up to 125 while gasoline mileage goes even higher.

ASSOCIATED PRESS PICTURE NEWS

BOOM'S ON, AND WE DON'T MEAN CANNON.—California, like other states where defense activity is rushing, has a building boom on its hands, especially in those sections where quarters for the soldiers are being constructed. Here are scenes from San Diego: additional naval facilities and a coast artillery corps replacement center to house 8,500 men are being built there. In upper view is the barracks being built at Camp Callan near San Diego. Below is a trailer colony for workmen unable to find homes.

COME CLEAN NOW!—As only boy entrant among 350 girls, "Tubby" Youngworth, 6, won special prize in N. Y. contest to teach cleanliness by means of doll care. Joan McGonnell, also shown with Bess Johnson who gave out awards, won a prize, too.

BUTCH—HIS MARK—No protest does Butch make, over being tattooed in the Wisconsin Dog Identification Bureau's program at Milwaukee. The identification is put on by breaking the skin slightly, then swabbing the marks with dye.

GIVES IN AT LAST—A 39-year boycott of his own opera, begun by a feud with Debussy in 1902, was ended by Maurice Maeterlinck (right) at Philadelphia where the Maeterlinck-Debussy "Pelleas and Melisande," was given its first production in English. In group are Frances Greer (left), the Melisande, and Countess Maeterlinck. The feud was over 1902 casting in Paris.

HEATING PROBLEM?—Some 20,000 cakes of ice—about 5,000 tons—went into the construction of this ice palace built on Lake Como in St. Paul for that city's annual winter carnival. It's of early English architecture and even has a postal branch inside to provide winter carnival cachets. The fete is a traditional affair, is staged early in February.

MERCY—Capt. Albert M. Moore is guiding the Red Cross mercy ship, Cold Harbor, across ocean. Ship's million-dollar cargo includes food, medicine, for Spain and France.

GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS—First of three National Association of Manufacturers' posters keyed to America's defense program and industry is this. Others will appear in March and April.

DALLAS GAL—Glamorous Dorothy Arthur will represent Dallas in the Mardi Gras at Galveston, Tex., Feb. 21-25. She's been educated in Switzerland and in Montreal, Canada.

SPANISH WAIFS FORGET CIVIL WAR, GET FRESH START IN LIFE FROM WELFARE GROUP

FROM HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS—To reclaim the thousands of Spanish children left homeless and parentless by that country's civil war, the Spanish Auxilio Social has been organized, and here is at least one phase of its work. The children are taken off the streets, fed, bathed and clothed. Next, they're fitted into an orderly pattern of useful, pleasant life.

AID—These two roguish children on a curbing in Madrid are typical of the thousands of homeless waifs being helped to a new life by the Auxilio Social in Spain.

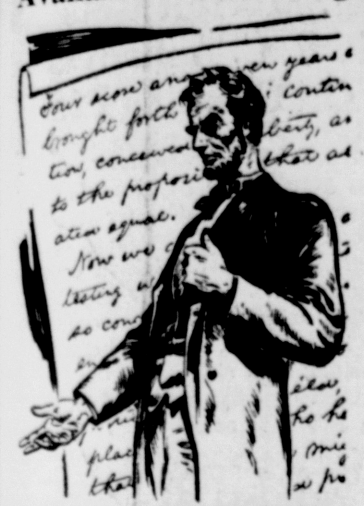

PAST WASHED OFF—Grime collected in his days of loitering in the streets, perhaps begging to get enough to eat, is washed off this Spanish boy. He's being prepared for a new existence by the Spanish welfare group, Auxilio Social.

FRESH START—Taken to an Auxilio Social home in Spain, the Spanish youngster gets clothes (above), encouragement. The Auxilio Social is befriending youths made homeless by the Spanish civil war, often locates and reunites families.

The Gettysburg Address Available For Framing

In Lincoln's Own Handwriting
"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here..."

These were modest words Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg — and they proved wrong. For Americans do remember, still live for the ideal he expressed that day: "That government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Locally enough, Lincoln thought his great address was a failure. Following Edward Everett, featured speaker, Lincoln got little applause. His talk was so brief, few realized it was over.

Later, Horace Greeley called the Gettysburg address "the finest gem in American literature" and today it is preserved in the Library of Congress—but you may have an exact replica of it, to frame for your home!

The Gettysburg address, in Lincoln's own handwriting, is one of our new set, "Three Great American Documents." Others are the Bill of Rights and the original Star Spangled Banner, in Francis Scott Key's handwriting. All are hand-drawn, printed, full size, in sepia on cream antique paper. Includes a four-page leaflet giving the histories of the documents.

Send 10c in coin for your set of THREE GREAT AMERICAN DOCUMENTS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of the booklet.

Cranberry Pie, Topped Coffee

Turnip Cups

6 cooked turnips (whole)

2 cups cream carrots and peas

1 teaspoon chopped parsley

1/4 cup grated cheese

Carefully scoop out the centers of the turnips. Spread turnips with butter, melted, and stuff with the carrots and peas. Sprinkle with parsley and cheese and bake ten minutes in a moderate oven—to melt the cheese.

Cranberry Pie, Topped

4 cups berries

1 cup water

1/4 cup tapioca (granulated)

1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup granulated sugar

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind

2 tablespoons butter

1 baked crust

2 egg whites, beaten

1/4 cup confectioner's sugar

Boil the berries and water for ten minutes. Add the tapioca, salt and sugar. Let stand 20 minutes, add the cinnamon, rind and butter. Pour into the crust. Beat the whites, add confectioner's sugar and beat until creamy. Cover the filling roughly. Bake 20 minutes in a slow oven—about 300 degrees. Cool and serve.

COURTESY NO LONGER DEMANDS THAT GENTLEMAN OFFER TO PUT ON LADY'S OVERSHOES, SAYS EMILY POST

Exceptions Are the Old or the "More Than Quite Fat"—Changing Times, the Reason

In answer to one who asks me to print something that would free a gentleman from being expected to offer to put on a lady's overshoes, I can say that I think this is an old-fashioned courtesy, probably left over from a day when it would have been thought unseemly for ladies to bend over double in order to put on their own rubbers or booties, and still more to lift one foot on the other knee! Today when most of us, and of all ages, are expert at daisy dozens it is taken for granted that rubbers or galoshes can be put on with no more need of assistance than in the putting on of gloves.

Therefore—excepting in the case of the quite old or the more than quite fat—men may safely consider the courtesy out of date. I think of course that a young gentleman should offer to put on an old lady's overshoes, but a younger woman would certainly not expect her boy friend to do more than perhaps offer his arm as a support for her one hand while she puts each rubber on with the other.

Marking a Wedding Present
Dear Mrs. Post: We want to give our daughter a tea set for a wedding present and are a little confused about its marking. My husband's family has a coat of arms that they have used for many generations and we would like to use this on the individual pieces of the tea set and the tray as well as my daughter's own three initials. We had intended putting the coat of arms on one side and the initials on the opposite side. Another thing, will you please tell me how much of the coat of arms should be used.

Answer: You know of course that correctly her silver should be marked only with a lozenge. But there is no good reason that I can see why anyone would criticize a custom that good usage has long permitted here in America—even though the Herald's College would not! A lozenge, I agree, is hideous—and new silver from the bride's family marked with her father's coat of arms is something that countless American brides have had and their families enjoyed. So I can't feel it necessary to say "no." But I would suggest that the crest alone be used or at most, the crest and motto. On no account, the coat of arms. It would be best to copy the size of marking from a piece of your own silver that you like. Her initials should be on the side toward her and the crest away from her.

Ex-Husband and Wife
Dear Mrs. Post: Mine, I think, is a rather unusual question. My ex-husband and I are seeing each other again after having been divorced 12 years. How should we introduce each other? I call myself Mrs. Brown and of course he is Mr. Brown. It sounds as though we were man and wife and of course we're not.

Answer: Say, "This is Mr. John Brown" and when he introduces you he says, "This is Mrs. Green Brown."

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

Entertainment Given

The entertainment under the auspices of the Creek Locks-Bloomington Parent-Teacher Association held in the school hall Friday evening was attended by a large crowd from all the nearby places. The evening was one of the stormiest we have had in a long time but it did not dampen the spirits of the cast or their friends who braved the storm to attend. The theme of the entertainment was in keeping with Valentine's Day, which isn't far off.

The children who's tableau was illustrated by different soloists were "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," "Silver Threads Among the Gold," "Just an Old Fashioned Garden," "I Love You Truly," and a number of others. The solos were well given. "Those Old Sweethearts of Mine," a recitation by Arnold Shultz and the solo "Memories" by George Sager, Jr. were quaint with a background of old fashioned patchwork quilts.

The monologue and tap dances were well received.

The comedy, "The Right Answer" was a good laugh provoker and each one of the cast were well suited for their respective parts.

Germany Is Now Talking in English About 30 Years of War

Nazi Commentator No Longer Bleats Of British Invasion

Present Indications Would Reveal Hitler Is After Stalemate; Still He Might Invade

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

It's worth anybody's time to pause for consideration of the statement attributed by the National Broadcasting Company to German commentator Kaltenbach that "a German victory does not depend on an actual invasion of the British Isles."

He added that "Germany is safe behind her impregnable defenses on the Atlantic, channel and North sea coasts." Her successes on the European continent, said he, have assured her of raw materials sufficient to wage war for thirty years.

That estimate of the situation, which contravenes the consensus of military experts, ostensibly is a sudden reversal of Nazidom's repeated declaration of intention to invade. Since German commentators speak as their Fuehrer thinks, Kaltenbach presumably had sanction for his remarks.

Now a generation is a long time to carry on a war. What could set the Nazis to talking about retreating to their European citadel, instead of chanting the sailor's invasion song, "For we sail 'gainst England?"

Well, of course Kaltenbach's speech was propaganda, and since it was in English, was probably intended mainly for Americans and British. It likely had several purposes, but one of them undoubtedly was to prepare the way for a possible failure or forced abandonment of the invasion idea.

Possible Stalemate
That gets us back to the thought advanced in this column weeks ago—that Herr Hitler was and is making provisions for a possible stalemate in the war. He has been consolidating his position—diplomatically, militarily, politically and economically—the "impregnable defense" of which commentator Kaltenbach boasts.

The Nazi chieftain's present operations in the Balkans fit into this picture perfectly. His maneuvers there are in my view primarily precautionary, though of offensive moves may develop out of them with changing conditions.

If he is to make Europe his citadel, one of the essentials is to safeguard his back door by securing control of the strategic Balkans.

But these Balkan preparations also would be an essential safeguard if Hitler should try to invade England—and indications are that he does indeed intend to make the attempt if it is half-way, feasible.

He might achieve a stalemate without invasion, but he can't defeat the British empire without smashing the mother country—and maybe not then, British Premier Churchill put his finger on the vital point of this situation in his speech last Sunday when he said:

"You all have seen that Sir John Dill, our principal military adviser, the chief of the imperial general staff, has warned us all yesterday that Hitler may be forced by the strategic, economic and political stresses in Europe to try to invade these islands in the near future. That is warning which no one should disregard."

That calls the turn and indicates a fallacy in Kaltenbach's claim. Europe couldn't stand a war of thirty years—perhaps not three years, as things look now. Her economic position is chaotic and many sections of the continent are short of essentials, including food. England, though in better position, might succumb if Hitler is able to make his counter-blockade stick.

Herbert Hoover told us three months ago that millions of people in Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium and central Poland faced "the stark fact of oncoming famine." France needs food; Spain is hungry; there is undernourishment in many other countries, including sections of Italy.

Disease follows in the path of starvation, as Mr. Hoover said. Blunt confirmation on this comes from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which states that Europe's death-rate is rising, apart from the war deaths. The prospect as regards the dread typhus for this year "is dark indeed."

Severe epidemics, says the report, are likely in southeastern Europe, where the standard of living is being cut to a dangerously low point.

Hitler likely would welcome a stalemate that would result in early peace and leave him master of the continent. But the signs are all against his being able to stand it long war if the British blockade continues to cut off food and other essential supplies. Europe will go to pieces.

That's why he will try to invade England if possible, although he is safeguarding himself against a failure or stalemate.

Activities for January
At West Shokan School

West Shokan, Feb. 12—The West Shokan school attendance average for the first five months was 98 per cent and for the month of January it was only 96 per cent. Pupils neither absent nor tardy for the month were Louise Colange, Betty Constable and Francis Constable also had a perfect attendance report for the half year.

Pupils on the honor roll are Anthony Colange, Rosetta Colange and Louise Colange.

Rosetta Colange and Louzette Schmoekel were cited for the best effort of the month.

The Junior Town Citizen Club held a meeting recently with Sarah Roe, supervisor, presiding. It has become necessary to change these semi-monthly meetings from Friday afternoons to Monday afternoons. The following officers were elected for the month of February: Louise Colange, supervisor; Betty Constable, superintendent; Sarah Roe, clerk; Francis Constable, collector; Rosetta Colange, health officer; Anthony Colange, constable; Louzette Schmoekel, judge.

The club has received its annual supply of packaged seeds to sell. It was decided to give prizes to those who sell the most garden seeds. The pupils are selling the seeds to raise funds for club purposes. Betty Constable, Francis Constable and Louzette Schmoekel now lead the list.

The school children are busy now making Valentines for the Valentine box which will be opened at the party to be held on St. Valentine's Day. They also are making plans for the observance of Bill of Rights Week. The school has also participated in the recent National Diagnostic Achievement Penmanship Test, and the certificates will be presented by a school official some time in the near future.

Mt. Marion Gets P. S. C. Approval On Crossing Plan

The Public Service Commission has granted the petition of the citizens of Mt. Marion for further protection at the New York Central's West Shore division crossing at that hamlet.

The railroad has been ordered to install "automatic horizontal flashing light signals" at the Mt. Marion crossing and is given until July 1 to comply with the order.

The order follows largely attended hearings held at the court house, Kingston, on November 13 and December 13 last, before V. M. Marshall, hearing examiner for the Public Service Commission. Attorney John W. DeWitt represented the people of Mt. Marion at the hearing and Surrogate Harry H. Flemming, New York Central attorney, appeared for the railroad.

At the hearings it was brought out that the crossing had been the scene of numerous accidents in the past, that the approach was none too clear and that the existing warning device often was not heard by motorists, especially in stormy weather. It was claimed, also, that freight traffic over the railroad at that point had largely increased in the past year.

Witnesses testified that signals such as were asked for at Mt. Marion were in service at the crossings on the Neighborhood road and at the Lake Katrine station.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. John J. Byrne of Montela, a son, John Francis, in the Benedictine Hospital.

Speaker at Banquet Says American Aid Means Britain Wins

J. W. Duffield, head of the Speakers' Bureau of the New York Times, was the speaker at the annual banquet of the College Women's Club Tuesday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Mr. Duffield told the college women that American aid will bring about a victory for Great Britain.

He based his optimism on two facts: first that in the past 500 years victory has always gone to the nation holding supremacy of the seas, and second, that Hitler's plans have met serious delay if not failure both in the east and the west.

England's chances for maintaining her rule of the sea were increased manifold by her crippling of the powerful French fleet last summer. Had Hitler been able to add this fleet to Germany's it might have been a different outcome. The loss of the French navy and the bottling up of the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean brought about a rapid vanishing of Hitler's dreams.

Mr. Duffield added that even if England should be invaded it would not mean that the British navy would fall into Hitler's hands.

Balkans Are Upset

The heroic stand of Greece has seriously upset the matters in the Balkans and Stalin is now demanding an equal hand in the Dardanelles. Mr. Duffield predicted that if England can hold Germany off for two months more and Hitler's victims realize that England is standing a good chance of winning, they will break with him as quickly as possible. "Hitler," the speaker said, "is now at his peak and his descent can be quick and short."

The United States is faced by three aggressive powers today, he said, Germany, Italy and Japan. Here again his plans failed because he had expected that by drawing Japan into the Axis he would frighten the United States into refusing to help England. "The major reason for present catastrophe," said Mr. Duffield, "is that the other democratic countries awoke too little and too late."

Speed and More Speed

The watchword of this nation must be speed and more speed according to the speaker. With the limited resources of this country 50 tanks can be built for every tank that Germany can build and 10 planes can be built for every plane that Germany can manufacture.

Sending the 50 destroyers to England and occupying strategic Atlantic islands for bases were the great forward policies of this country this year, Mr. Duffield explained. "Now we must plan to double our fleet and construct sufficient airports to cope with any power. Only in this way can we show ourselves worthy of the iron men who won us our freedom."

Miss Ethel M. Hull, president of the College Women's Club, introduced the speaker. Following the speech the 60 guests enjoyed dancing and cards. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Lloyd R. LeFevre, Mrs. James H. Betts, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. Albert Kurtz, Mrs. John MacKinnon, Miss Catherine MacCombs, Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. Harry Halverson, Mrs. Robert Groves, Miss Gladys Nickerson, Miss May Quimby, Mrs. William Strong, Mrs. Howard Van Winckle and Mrs. Garret Wullschlegel.

Mrs. A. Noble Graham Re-Named President Of Y. W. C. A. Board

When Colds Choke You All Up, Cause Coughing

Are coughing spasms keeping you awake at night and making you feel miserable all day? Is your head so filled up that it feels ready to burst? If you have that kind of a cold—if anyone in your family has one—THEN HERE IS WELCOME NEWS!

Right at home you can easily prepare a simple, direct treatment that helps relieve such discomforts.

All you need do is boil some water. Pour it into a bowl while it's steaming. Add a good spoonful of Vicks VapoRub. Then breathe in the steaming medicinal vapors.

With every breath VapoRub's relief-giving medication is carried deep into the breathing passages of the nose, throat and chest. It soothes irritation, eases local congestion in the upper bronchial tubes, helps clear head and throat, quiets coughing.

When you enjoy the results of this medicated vapor treatment you will understand why Vicks VapoRub is used this way in so many homes.

Added relief . . . Rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime—to get the benefit of its soothing medicated vapors and its comforting poultice action while you sleep.

Sagendorf and Brown Are Tied With 60 in DUSO League Scoring

Brown's Recent Spree Has Placed Him With Leader

Maroons to Play Away Friday Against Liberty; Middies Out to Seek Second Victory

With Rod Sagendorf of Kingston finally yielding absolute leadership of the DUSO top scorer, action in the league will continue Friday evening with three fairly important games on the schedule. Last week Carl Brown proceeded to go hay-wire against Ellenville by scoring 23 points and advancing his total to 60 which gave him a tie with the Maroon ace scorer, Bob Brown of Port Jervis has 57 points.

Games listed for this week include Middletown at Port Jervis, Kingston at Liberty and Newburgh at Ellenville. Kingston, Newburgh and Middletown were winners in the first round games when these clubs tangled.

Undeclared in league competition, Middletown will go up against Port Friday, the team it defeated before by the count of 40 to 16. The Middies were idle from league work last week but managed to play Poughkeepsie and the boys of Coach Sammy Kalloch went out and stopped the powerful Middies. Middletown turned back Kingston 28-21 in the start of the second half.

On Upgrade

Coach Kias and his Maroon and White warriors will play Liberty, defeated by the Klammen 39-24 in the first half. The Maroon squad showed some signs of failing against Middletown and Saugerties but rained back against Port last week by winning 40 to 29.

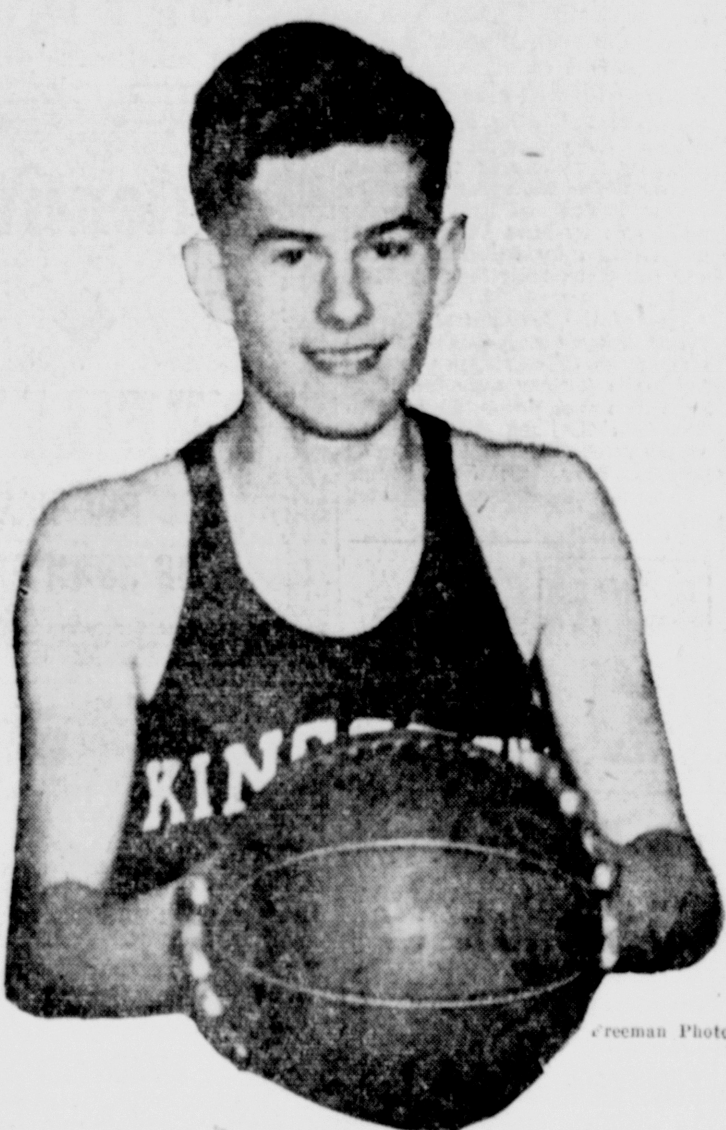

With the second half already under way at least four or five league competitors are attempting to take the coveted high scorer's post. So far Sagendorf, the two Browns and Frankie Finn are the most troublesome.

Sagendorf has dumped in 24 fields and 12 fouls for his 60 while Brown of Port, still a game left from the first half, is a real threat with 24 fields and nine fouls accounting for 57 markers. Frankie Finn of Liberty has collected 24 fields and a half dozen fouls for his total of 54.

Maroon's Ace Scorer

ROD SAGENDORF

Although tied by Carl Brown of Monticello last Friday in DUSO League scoring, Rod Sagendorf is still Kingston High School's ace goal-getter. The young freshman sensation has dropped in 24 fields and 12 fouls for his grand total of 60 markers. Sagendorf has been consistent all year and promises to give the Maroon and White cagers a scoring threat for a few more seasons to come. Sagendorf will be out to increase his point total Friday night at Liberty.

16 Are Holdouts Of Chicago Cubs

Club to Leave for Coast to Start Drills

Chicago, Feb. 12 (AP)—Holdout fever in the organization of the Chicago Cubs has almost reached epidemic proportions, but Manager Jimmy Wilson says that is no cause for concern at all. Sixteen of the 36 players on the roster still are unsigned, 10 days before the squad is scheduled to depart for the west coast. Players still out of the fold when practice begins February 26 are considered bona-fide holdouts. The list of recalcitrants includes Third Baseman Stan Hack, Second Baseman Billy Herman, Outfielders Hank Leiber, Bill Nicholson and Lou Novickoff, the celebrated rookie slugger; Pitchers Bill Lee, Vern Olsen and Charles Root, and the highly-rated rookie infielder, Lou Stringer.

Expects Heavy List

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP)—The Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Association, offering a new trophy in competition this year, expects a heavy entry list for its annual championship tournament at Syracuse University March 7-8. The association, which recently admitted Virginia and the United States Coast Guard Academy, is restricting the 1941 tournament to members, who also include West Point, Cornell, Penn State and Western Maryland. Entry blanks were mailed yesterday.

American League Baseball Picture May Be Obtained

Groups Are Requested to See Claude Dolson for Particulars; Shows Stars in Action

"Batting Around the American League", the official motion picture released by the American League, is now available for clubs and social groups in this city. The script and direction of the picture were supervised by Lew Fonseca. Those interested in obtaining the picture for use are requested to see Claude Dolson at 37 Railroad avenue or by phone 1333. There is a small service charge for the picture.

The 1941 release of the American League shows such outstanding stars of the diamond as Ken Chase, Lou Boudreau, Joe Cronin, Al Mumar, Hank Greenberg, Luke Appling, Joe Gordon, George McQuinn, Tommy Bridges, Buck Newsom, Jimmy Fox, Ted Williams, Bob Johnson, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Bob Feller, Rip Radcliff, Don DiMaggio, Walt Judnich and many others.

Throughout the picture there are shots of major league night baseball, exciting plays of the 1940 World Series, new crop or rookies in the circuit, batting shots of DiMaggio, Appling, Radcliff, Williams and Greenberg in slow motion, Bob Feller and Buck Newsom in fundamentals on pitching, hitting, and fielding by the new stars plus other interesting phases of the American sport.

The purpose of the picture is to teach the youngster baseball.

Hoppe Finally Loses

Chicago, Feb. 12 (AP)—Willie Hoppe finally lost a three-cushion billiards match, but he's still a heavy favorite to retain the world's championship in the current tournament. The 53-year-old cue master had won 13 straight in this tourney and 35 straight in his last three title meets before he met his conqueror last night—Walter Cochran of San Francisco, a former champion.

Porter's Cap Favored

Los Angeles, Feb. 12 (AP)—Long weeks of careful training behind, 16 crack three-year-olds were due to parade to the post today in the seventh running of the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby—a battle that shaped up as wide open from flagfall to the finish on the mile and one eighth grand. Charles S. Howard's Porter's Cap remained the betting favorite in the morning line at odds of 5 to 2.

New Life Returns to Old New Salem, In a 'Depression' Since Lincoln Left

Lincoln's Birthday, 1941, Finds Reconstruction Well Along

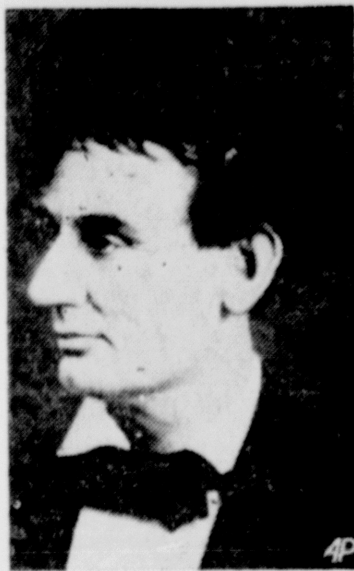

AP Feature Service

New Salem, Ill.—Abraham Lincoln and prosperity walked out of New Salem at about the same time—more than 100 years ago.

Lincoln went to Springfield to continue the public career which led to the presidency. New Salem went into a slump within two years after Lincoln left. On Lincoln's birthday, 1941, there remains only one of the original buildings that stood here when the young Lincoln clerked in the Offutt store and met and courted Ann Rutledge.

Lincoln lives only in memory and legend, but the town, which died before he had reached the peak of his career, is coming back.

Reconstruction of New Salem, started by the state in 1932, has brought back 13 cabins, six shops, and the Rutledge tavern, where "Honest Abe" boarded and stayed up late at night entertaining fellow boarders with his endless story of yarns.

Portrait of Lincoln made in 1856 at Princeton, Ill. It is one of the few photographs showing him without a beard.

The only one of the 30 original buildings that remains is the Onstot cooper shop, where Abe and his friend, Isaac Onstot, studied Blackstone, Shakespeare and Burns by the light of the fire kindled with the cooper's shavings.

Under construction now is the saw and grist mill, which was originally built by James Rutledge and John Cameron, co-founders of the village.

This summer the state will begin reconstruction of the Mentor Graham school house which served also as a church. Plans for operating the Hill carding mill by ox power will be carried out. Well over $500,000 is being expended by the state and the national park service in the restoration.

The site of New Salem park was originally acquired by William Randolph Hearst, who later transferred it to the Chautauqua Association. In 1918, however, with the consent of Hearst, it was turned over to the state.

The buildings are furnished with authentic relics, including the surveying instruments, saddlebags and mattock, and letters of Lincoln, the Rutledge family Bible, a wooden clock sold in the Berry-Lincoln store, and a side saddle used by Ann Rutledge.

St. Peter's Group Holds Mothers' Society Event

The mother and daughter dinner, conducted Tuesday evening by the Christian Mothers' Society of St. Peter's Church was a huge success with well over 200 in attendance. Following an excellent dinner, entertainment was supplied by members of the parish, among which were piano solos by Arthur Belich and Regina Camp; vocal solo by Miss Virginia Rist; a recitation by Roberta Carter, and accordion selections by Mike Pinkus.

One of the features which the guests enjoyed most was a colored film of the China Clipper and its 9,000-mile journey over the Pacific, which was presented by Pan American Airlines, through the courtesy of Greenwald's Travel Service, Fair street, Kingston.

Dancing and music completed the evening.
